STAYING ON TRACK

A guide to remaining gambling-free

BOOKLET 6

LIFESTYLE BALANCE

Brought to you by the University of Calgary. Funded by the Alberta Gaming Research Institute.

Contents

Lifestyle balance	2
Advantages of a healthy, balanced lifestyle	2
What are your lifestyle goals?	3
Finding other pleasurable activities to replace gambling	6
Maintaining an active, not a passive, lifestyle	6
Quitting other negative behaviours	8
Pleasant activities list	9

This booklet, Lifestyle Balance, is the sixth of eight in the Staying on Track series. In this booklet, we cover lifestyles and how to adjust your current routine to suit your new gambling free lifestyle.

Lifestyle balance

Many people who quit gambling feel like they are losing a big part of their lifestyle. Giving up gambling can result in a sense of loss, especially when you don't add something to take its place. To cope with this sense of loss, it is extremely important to re-balance your lifestyle to include other pleasurable activities. It is also important to take care of the responsibilities that you may have neglected when you were actively gambling. This booklet helps you set goals for a healthier lifestyle.

A healthy lifestyle is one that includes a good balance of pleasurable and productive activities.

Advantages of a healthy, balanced lifestyle

Too much of one thing can be bad for you. For example, people who are "workaholics" often have high levels of stress in their lives and strained relationships with their families. Although they may achieve a great deal in their work lives, their personal lives usually suffer. Furthermore, they are at risk to abuse substances (e.g., alcohol, drugs, and cigarettes) and develop health problems like high blood pressure and headaches. On the other hand, people who spend all their time in leisure activities may neglect important responsibilities like providing for financial needs. They may "live for the moment" and fail to plan ahead to achieve important personal and professional goals. Such individuals may not cope well with stress because they spend most of their time avoiding it.

A balanced lifestyle helps you to remain stress-hardy. People who are stress-hardy are able to cope with minor problems and crises without enormous difficulty. This is not to say that they are immune to stress. Rather, they seem to suffer fewer long-term consequences. People who are not stress-hardy tend to feel physically unwell (e.g., overweight, have sleep problems) and are especially prone to health problems like heart disease and mental illness. They may be attracted to "quick fix" methods of reducing stress like using alcohol or gambling as a way to escape. Many of these quick fixes can end up causing more stress and personal problems in the long run.

Another advantage of a balanced lifestyle is that you have more options for things to do when you get an urge to gamble. Many gamblers relapse because they don't have alternative activities set up to distract them from their urges. For example, if you habitually played the VLTs after work on Fridays, you are likely to get an urge to gamble on this day. Arranging a new leisure activity for Fridays (e.g., going out for coffee with a friend) might help with your urges to gamble. When the urge hits you, remind yourself you have something else to do. It is also helpful to have other relaxing activities you can do on a moment's notice when unexpected urges come. Examples of these are meditation, exercise, and reading. You are more likely to give in to an urge if you have nothing else planned, and don't have other things you can do quickly to distract yourself from the urge.

What are your lifestyle goals?

Gambling can take over your life and make you forget the goals you set for yourself before you started gambling. On the next page are four dimensions of a balanced lifestyle: physical health, emotional well-being, relationships, and leisure activities. Take a minute to write down one or two goals for each category. Examples are provided for each category, but you should come up with your own personal goals. When writing out your goals, try to remember that a good goal is one that is:

Specific – Be clear about what you want.

Measurable – You can see or experience the results.

"I"- centred – Involves you making the change.

An example of a poorly defined goal is something like "I want to feel better." A better goal is "I plan to ask a friend to a movie every two weeks."

EXERC	CISE
-------	------

Think of goals relating to physical health you would like to achieve.

EXAMPLE

I want to lose 15 pounds.
I want to quit smoking by June 1st.

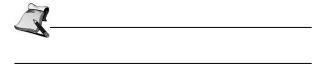

EXERCISE

Think of goals relating to your emotional well-being you would like to see happen.

EXAMPLE

I want to acknowledge at least one accomplishment I make every day.

EXERCISE

Think of some relationship goals you can work towards.

EXAMPLE

I want to spend one evening a week out with my spouse doing something fun.

EXERCISE

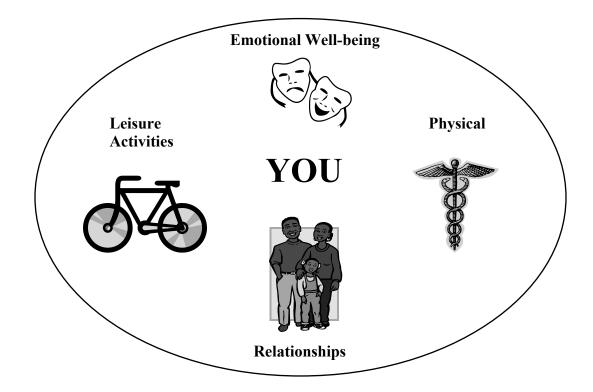

List any leisure activities you would like to do more of or try for the first time.

EXAMPLE

I want to start bowling again on Thursday evenings.

A Healthy Lifestyle is a matter of balancing your physical health, your emotional well-being, the relationships you have, and your leisure life.

Finding other pleasurable activities to replace gambling

At the beginning of this booklet, we mentioned the importance of finding other activities that give you pleasure and excitement to replace gambling. You can think of gambling as a "negative activity" along with smoking and drinking. Many people who quit gambling find it helpful to substitute more positive activities. Examples of positive activities are running, painting, writing, prayer, and meditation. If you find it difficult to come up with other pleasurable activities, here are a few suggestions:

Ask friends and co-workers what they do to relax or have fun.

Join a local community centre (the YMCA, for example) and sample different classes and programs before you find one you like.

Complete the Pleasant Activities List at the end of this booklet.

Maintaining an active, not a passive, lifestyle

A recent survey of problem gamblers revealed some interesting trends in their choice of social and leisure activities. Problem gamblers spent more time in passive sorts of activities like watching TV compared to occasional gamblers and nongamblers. In fact, problem gamblers spent an average of 20 hours per week watching TV (equivalent to a part-time job!). They also had fewer social interactions and almost no hobbies. When thinking of activities to replace gambling, try to think of active ones. Passive activities are ones that don't exercise your mind or your body.

EXERCISE

On the next page are some examples of active and passive activities, both productive and recreational. Try to add a few of your own to each list.

٨	\sim	וים	rτ	71
А	\mathbf{C}		ı١	/	r,

Reading
Journaling
Playing board games
Doing crossword puzzles
Painting the house
Stretching exercises
Running
PASSIVE
Watching TV
Renting videos
Napping
Surfing the internet
Listening to the radio
Sunbathing

You may ask yourself, how can reading be an active pursuit? It is active because it engages your mind. Watching TV, on the other hand, is one of those "mind-numbing" activities. The danger with passive activities is that they are a little too easy, and can be a quick fix for boredom. Active pursuits take a little more effort, but are usually more rewarding in the end.

Another trend this survey revealed was that gamblers spend less time in social activities like visiting friends, going to church, or being involved in community organizations. Activities are more enjoyable when done with other people. Plus, you may feel a greater commitment to the activity if others are involved. For example, it is easy to make excuses to not go to the gym when you are going alone. However, if you have a buddy to go with, there is less chance you will cancel out. Therefore, when balancing your lifestyle try to include some social activities.

Quitting other negative behaviours

It is not uncommon for gamblers to "switch addictions." After quitting gambling, your use of alcohol or drugs may increase. You may even have a substance abuse problem. Smoking is also very common among gamblers. The continued use of cigarettes and alcohol may get in the way of achieving your goals for a balanced lifestyle. Booklet 8 talks about other addictions and provides you with some suggestions for quitting.

Maintaining a balanced lifestyle helps you feel better physically and emotionally. When you feel good physically and emotionally, you are better equipped to stay on track and remain gambling free.

Pleasant Activities List

The following list was modified from a Pleasant Events List¹, which was produced by asking people what they do for fun. Read through the list and check off all activities that may help you balance your lifestyle.

Being out in the country.	Restoring antiques,
Wearing nice or new clothes.	refinishing furniture.
Talking about sports.	Watching TV.
Meeting someone new.	Talking to myself or a friend
Playing ball.	Camping.
Planning trips or vacations.	Working in politics.
Buying things for self or	Working on machines.
someone you care about.	Thinking about something
Going to the beach.	good in the future.
Doing art work	Completing a hard task.
Rock climbing.	Laughing.
Reading the Bible.	Solving a problem, puzzle,
Playing golf.	cross-word.
Decorating my room or	Being at weddings, baptisms,
house.	confirmations.
Going to a sports event.	Having lunch with friends.
Reading a "how to do it"	Playing tennis.
book or article.	Driving long distances.
Reading stories, novels,	Woodworking, carpentry.
poems or plays.	Writing stories, novels, plays
Going out with friends.	or poetry.
Going to lectures or hearing	Being with animals.
speakers.	Riding in an airplane.
Breathing clean air.	Hiking.
Thinking up a song or music.	Having a frank and open
Boating	conversation.

Working on my job.	Visiting people who are sick
Going to a party.	or in trouble.
Going to church functions	Cheering.
Speaking in a foreign	Bowling.
language and learning.	Teaching someone.
Going to service, civic, or	Using my strength.
social club meetings.	Travelling.
Going to a business meeting	Going to office parties.
or a convention.	Attending a concert, opera, or
Being in a sporty car.	ballet.
Playing in a band.	Playing with pets.
Making soup.	Going to a play.
Combing, brushing or	Looking at the stars or moon.
washing my hair.	Being coached.
Acting.	Coaching.
Taking a nap.	Watching wild animals.
Canning, freezing, making	Gardening.
preserves, etc.	Reading essays or technical,
Solving a personal problem.	academic, or professional
Taking a bath or shower.	literature.
Singing to myself or in a	Dancing.
group.	Sitting in the sun.
Making food or crafts to sell	Riding a motorcycle.
or give away.	Just sitting and thinking.
Playing pool or billiards.	Going to a fair, circus, zoo or
Being with children.	park.
Playing chess or checkers.	Planning something.
Doing craft work	Listening to the sounds of
Putting on makeup, fixing my	nature.
hair, etc.	Dating, courting, etc.
Designing or drafting.	Having a lively talk.

	Racing in a car, motorcycle,	Improving my health (having boat etc.	my teeth fixed, getting new
	Listening to the radio.	glasses, changing my diet,
_	Having friends come to visit.	etc.).
	Playing in a sports	Going to, or being in the city.
	competition.	Wrestling or boxing.
	Introducing people I think	Hunting.
	would like each together.	Playing in a musical group.
	Giving gifts.	Hiking.
	Going to school or	Going to a museum or government meetings, court	exhibit.
	sessions, etc.	Writing papers essays,
	Playing basketball.	articles, reports, memos, etc.
	Buying something for my	Doing a job well.
	family.	Fishing.
	Photography.	Loaning something.
	Giving a speech or lecture	Pleasing employers, teachers,
	Reading maps	etc.
	Gathering natural objects	Going to a health club, sauna
	Working on my finances.	bath or gym.
	Making a major purchase.	Learning to do something
	Helping someone.	new.
	Being in the mountains.	Going to a "Drive-in"
	Getting a job advancement.	Praising someone.
	Hearing jokes.	Being at a gathering.
	Talking about my children or	Being with my parents.
	grandchildren.	Horseback riding.
	Meeting someone new.	Kicking leaves, sand,
	Talking about my health.	pebbles, etc.
	Seeing beautiful sights.	Playing lawn sports
	Eating good meals.

Going to school reunions,	Writing in a diary.
alumni meeting, etc.	Playing football.
Seeing famous people.	Saying prayers.
Going to the movies.	Giving massages or backrubs.
Kissing.	Doing yoga.
Being alone.	Talking with people on the
Budgeting my time.	job or in class.
Cooking meals.	Being relaxed.
Outwitting a "superior".	Playing board games
Feeling the presence of the	Doing heavy outdoor work
Lord in my life.	Reading the newspaper.
Doing a project in my own	Being in a body-awareness,
way.	sensitivity, encounter,
Doing 'odd jobs' around the	therapy, or "rap" group.
house.	Playing ping-pong.
Laughing.	Brushing my teeth.
Being at a family reunion or	Swimming.
get-together.	Running, jogging, or doing
Going to a restaurant.	gymnastics, fitness, or field
Seeing or smelling a flower	exercises.
or plant.	Walking barefoot.
Inviting someone out.	Playing Frisbee or catch.
Using cologne, perfume, or	Doing housework or laundry;
after-shave.	cleaning things.
Talking about old times.	Listening to music.
Getting up early in the	Knitting, crocheting,
morning.	embroidery, or fancy
Having peace and quiet.	needlework.
Doing experiments or other	Petting, necking.
scientific work.	Amusing people.
Visiting friends.

	Going to a barber or beauty		Talking about my hobby or
_	shop.		special interest.
	Having house guests.	Ч	Watching attractive women
Ц	Being with someone I love.	_	or men.
	Reading magazines.		Smiling at people.
	Sleeping late.		Playing in sand, a stream, the
	Starting a new project.		grass, etc.
	Going to the library.		Talking about other people.
	Preparing a new or special		Being with my husband, wife
	food.		or partner.
	Bird watching.		Going on field trips, nature
	Shopping.		walks.
	Watching people.		Expressing my love to
	Building or watching a fire.		someone
	Selling or trading something.		Caring for houseplants.
	Finishing a project or task.		Having coffee, tea, a coke,
	Fixing things.		etc., with friends.
	Working with others as a		Taking a walk.
	team.		Collecting things.
	Bicycling.		Playing handball, paddleball,
	Telling people what to do.		squash, etc.
_	Being with happy people.		Sewing.
_	Playing party games.		Remembering a departed
	Writing letters, cards, or		friend or loved one, visiting
	notes.		the cemetery.
	Talking about politics or		Doing things with children.
_	public affairs.		Beachcombing.
	Going to banquets,		Eating snacks.
	luncheons, potlucks.

Adapted from MacPhillamy, D.J., & Lewinsohn, P.M., (1982). Journal of Consulting and Clinical Psychology.

